HOME ENDORSEMENT

Hundreds of Huntingdon Citizens Can Tell You All About It.

Home endorsement, the public expression of Huntingdon people, should be evidence beyond dispute for every Huntingdon reader. Surely the experience of friends and neighbors, cheerfully given by them, will carry more weight than the utterances of strangers residing in far away places. Read the following:

John Clark, Nashville street, Huntingdon, Tenn., says: "I gladly recommend Doan's Kidney Pills as being an excellent medicine for kidney trouble. I had a lame back and there were pains in my limbs when I stooped or lifted, these troubles plainly showing that I was afflicted with kidney disease. The kidney secretions contained sediment and the flow was irregular and scanty. Finally I used Doan's Kidney Pills, which I obtained at the Patrick Drug Co. and they soon made me well."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50c. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

Miss Allie Thompson.

On May 11, the death angel, with his irresistible tread entered the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Thompson, of the Sixth district, and took from their embrace their beloved daughter, Allie, leaving their hearts sad and bleeding. The family and friends had done all that they could to keep her with them, but the complication of pneumonia and fever was too hard to conquer and they have to submit to that dispensation of providence that grieves us all and will until the end of time, as that is the "last enemy that shall be destroyed."

Miss Allie was just blooming into young womanhood, nearing her sixteenth year, and had the prospect of a happy and useful life before her, but God can use her better by taking her to himself and can make her real happy forever without any of the griefs that are sure to come to us here to marr our happiness. She will never know naught in that blessed clime but joy and peace from the great love of the Father who giveth to all liberally.

Miss Allie joined the church at a very early age and has lived a consistent christian, ever willing to help in the work of the Master and the building up of His cause. She has gone from labor to rest, from service to reward, from the church militant to the church triumphant. She will be missed by her bereaved relatives and friends here but will be loved by the host of heaven.

The over filled house and the flower covered grave, as well as the many words of sympathy and sadness spoken showed that Miss Allie's friends were numerous and that her bereaved loved ones have the deepest sympathy of their neighbors and friends in their sad loss.

To her parents, sisters and all the bereaved, we would say look not at flower covered grave in that beautiful, sacred cemetery at Pleasant Hill for your loved one, but look by the eye of faith to the time when that grave will burst its limits and from it will come the immortal and glorified body of "Allie" to meet our Savior in the air and be wafted to the skies in that blissful resurrection that is your hope and mine.

POULTRY

HEAVY CHICKENS IN DEMAND

They Are Often Purchased in Preference to Turkeys—Chicks Hatched in Natural Way Best.

We had a lot of chicks that were hatched early in May and sold at Thanksgiving for $4.50 per pair. I could have sold a lot more, too, at the same price, for my customers took them in preference to turkeys, that of late years have been high in price if not in quality, says a writer in the Baltimore American. The difference between what I received and what cockerels of that age would have brought, was my pay for spending about five minutes each to caponize them in July.

Chicks hatched in the natural season are much easier to raise than those coming earlier or later, and in my experience either pay just as well. But I plan the marketing in a somewhat unusual way. I keep Plymouth Rocks of a light pullet mating, because then I can tell the sex when they are only a day old. Then during the months of May and June I sell as baby chicks all the pullets as fast as they are hatched. When you find a fellow who has not hatched quite as many chicks as he had planned, it is right easy to sell him baby chicks by just saying that you will pick out all pullets. That gets them nicely out of the way.

POULTRY HANGER IS USEFUL

Device Found Quite Convenient by Eastern Poultrymen in Holding Fowls While Killing.

Here is a device which poultrymen of Boston have found very convenient in holding fowls during the killing process. Nothing could be simpler or more effective. It consists of a string and a thin disk of wood hung from a nail, as shown at a in the drawing herewith, says the Orange Judd Farmer. When to be used the fowl's legs are brought together in a horizontal position, as shown at b, and the disk passed around them as indicated by the heavy dotted line. The disk is then placed beside the legs, but beyond the vertical part of the string. Now the fowl is lowered and allowed to hang head downward, as indicated at c. If applied in this way there is no danger of the fowl working loose. To release the bird the position is reversed and the disk slipped to one side.

POULTRY NOTES

A flock of birds neglected are money losers.

The poultry needs plenty of green feed all the time.

Breeding fowls to be healthy and prolific should not be pampered.

Ducks need to be fed only twice a day if they are allowed a good grass range.

If the eggs are a little pale in the yolk, a trifle more corn will deepen the color.

Chickens that have to hunt and scratch for their feed are seldom troubled with leg weakness.

Dry wheat bran along with chick feed is fine for young chicks; it keeps their bowels in good condition.

It is not just what we will gain this year that counts; it is rather what course to follow in a series of years.

Once a week give the drinking dishes a scrubbing and scald with hot water in which a small quantity of common baking soda has been dissolved.

To reap profits from poultry the flock must be separated into pens of small numbers. Overcrowding is one of the greatest mistakes, and this has been demonstrated.

TEMPERANCE NOTES

ALCOHOL CAUSE OF DISEASE

Does More Than Anything Else to Render People Incapable of Withstanding Many Ills.

One of the many prominent physicians and chemists who are now wont to take opportunity to frequently pronounce against the use of alcoholic drink is Dr. G. Sims Woodhead, professor of pathology at Cambridge university, England. Dr. Woodhead's latest summing up is clear and striking, and is set forth as follows:

"Alcohol is perhaps the most important factor in the production of disease. It does more than anything else to render people incapable of withstanding disease. Alcohol prepares the human body for the attacks of disease, just as did the extreme heat of the past season, the straw for the engine spark to set on fire. It can be proved that alcohol taken in comparatively small quantities interferes with the blood. It alters the fluids very slightly indeed, but certain substances become less active and are unable to do their work so well as usual. The fight between disease and these substances becomes unfair, the germs make use of their opportunities, invade the body and set up disease.

"Take, for instance, the scourge of tuberculosis. During the last ten years the death rate from consumption has been declining. In London the decline was 19 per cent.; in Paris 2 per cent. It is significant in regard to these figures that in this country (Great Britain) the drink bill has during the same period dropped from $22.30 per head of the population to $16.55 per head, whereas in France it is very different. In this country with the decline of the consumption of alcohol has come a lower death rate from tuberculosis. We do not say this was the sole cause, but we do remark that the two things have gone on together. Better housing, clothing, education, feeding, and conditions of life generally have had a great deal to do with the fall in the death rate. At the bottom of all, however, we have the gradual diminution in the amount of money spent on drink. This is a tremendous gain to the nation.

"We, as medical men, have to do all we can to point out to the people that there is a very direct connection between tuberculosis and the amount of alcohol consumed. To get rid of tuberculosis, we must, of course, get rid of the tubercle bacillus. The bacillus can only do its work when placed in favorable conditions, and alcohol has the faculty of tilling and preparing the ground for its growth. Were no alcohol in the soil, the bacillus would fall on very stony ground. By taking alcohol the human being renders himself more open to attack by diseases of various kinds, and impairs his faculties often to a slight degree, but sufficient to interfere with his powers of doing good work. Alcohol we are satisfied is the doctor's worst friend because the doctor wants to get his patients well. The total abstainer will get well more quickly than if he takes alcohol, and a great many doctors believe it now. More are coming to believe it every day."

GREATEST CURSE OF THE AGE

Rev. Father McCory Makes Strong Arraignment of Rum Traffic—Stands With Majority.

"I arraign the rum traffic as the greatest curse the age has known. Its pallor is on our nation and its blight is everywhere.

"You may ask where do I stand. You have a right to know.

"Creep up close to the heart of God, who hates every evil thing. Ask him where he stands, and put me down on that side.

"Or if that is too much trouble, go to the poor, pale-faced woman, the ragged and half-starved children, the innocent victims of the accursed traffic. Ask them where they stand, and put me down there.

"Or if that is too much trouble, go out to your cemetery, and, creeping in among the graves of the victims of the demon drink, ask yourself as you contemplate their ruin, where in the name of all that is holy, a man should stand. When you have your answer, put me down there.

"I stand here tonight giving no quarter and asking none, conscious that I am sustained by Heaven, endorsed by every good woman and every honest man. But if I should stand alone here, I shall stand, conscious that one with God is a majority."—Rev. Father McCory.

Scientific Conclusions.

Prof. Sims Woodhead, in "Scientific Conclusions," speaks of alcohol's "power of repelling the leucocytes, the white cells of the blood, the policemen and scavengers of the blood, and so helping to drive them away from pus-forming organisms that may make their way into the body;" and, moreover, tells us that "the child of an alcoholic mother must come into the world with an enormously diminished immunity to disease."

Simple Lesson.

St. Michael Foster, in "Simple Lessons to Health," says: "A tiny bit of bread has in it as much real food as a gallon of beer."
